Ms. Miller is a founding member of the Foundation for Higher Education and Accreditation and the Chair of the Epsilon Pi Phi National Honor Society (EPP) for emergency management, homeland security and business continuity students. EPP currently has over 300 members and is growing to include both U.S. and international students and chapters. The goal for the next year is to increase membership by 100 members and to be formally recognized as an official honor society.

She has recently moved from Ewa Beach, Hawaii to accept an appointment as the Emergency Planning Officer for the City of Round Rock, Texas. The population of the city exceeds 100,000 and has several colleges in and around the area including the University of Texas at Austin and Texas State University. Ms. Miller will be working closely with the universities and agencies in the region to assist with collaborative exercise and evaluation needs and HSEEP compliance.

Prior to Round Rock, Ms. Miller was the Asst. Director of Emergency Management at Florida International University and The University of Texas at Dallas where she was a director of an emergency preparedness certificate program and an emergency management coordinator and CERT coordinator.

She has most recently published articles in the Sage Encyclopedia of Disasters. She completed her master's degree at Arkansas Tech University with "Behavioral Assessment Teams: Perspectives of campus faculty, staff and students" as her thesis. She has future plans to pursue a Ph.D and to expand the honor society "staff" through dedicated volunteers and students.
